

Dear Investors,

The saying, "when the night is darkest, twilight is near," holds a lot of truth during these current economic times and market circumstances. There's a lot of present darkness, but there's a lot of future hope. That is why right now is the time to take action, as we as long-term investors focus on the hope of the future and go on to benefit from it.

Understandably, investors might have been apprehensive about making any significant moves over the last few months, but MegaTrend investors look for opportunities when others are afraid. Recognizing this new investment opportunity too late will cost many people to miss out on significant profits over the long-term.

Let me put it this way, the deeper the entry, the higher the profits. So, if we enter the market early, just before dawn, the profits are highest. Here is an actual, concrete example for you:

Recovery Potential After Price Loss

In the graph above, we see a real share that has suffered greatly from the crisis. After losing 25%, we already have a recovery potential of +33%. With a price loss of 50%, there is already a +100% recovery potential. If the price loss is 75%, then there is a +300% price potential to the old high. That's nearly 4x upside for long-term investors.

This graph also lets you see quite nicely what happens if you wait too long. In a very short amount of time, it changes to only a +178% as a possibility.

The Wise Strategy to Implement

So, now that we understand the opportunity in today's market environment, the question is, "what strategy should investors deploy to participate in the upside while minimizing risk?"

One of the most common choices an investor may face is a traditional stock investment strategy versus a more aggressive short-term options play.

Stocks generally are considered the more conservative choice, while options offer leverage—which many investors find attractive, but what if you could have both?

One possibility for investors caught between the decision to buy a stock or short-term options contract is LEAPS—Long-Term Equity AnticiPation Securities.

LEAPS are options contracts that mostly follow the same rules as short-term options, but because their expiration dates are at least a year out, they hold on to their value longer, giving the investor more time to be right.

So, how do we know which companies are the best and most reliable? Well, where there are different starting points to enter the market, one of the safest and most successful ways is to look for the companies that have raised their outlook for the coming year and continue demonstrating strong fundamental growth attributes.

Now Is the Right Time to Take Action!

For my MegaTrend investor subscribers and me, now is the right time to take advantage of the cheap prices we currently see with the proper companies.

So, I've put together a new options package with strong trend followers who have raised their outlook for the year ahead. I've picked out five options, all from companies that have upgraded their outlooks this earnings season. These are companies with extremely positive prospects for the future.

The best thing is that I have chosen a term of almost 2 years for the options, so even a possible turbulent, upward movement does not bother us. We simply give the companies the time they need to make big profits for us. I don't think it will take us long, though, because it's always pretty quick at the beginning of a recovery, and when big money comes back into the market, we experience a dynamic that we can only dream of!

How You Can Benefit from My Latest Options Package:

- Taking advantage of companies that have raised their outlook for the coming year and the current strongest trend followers.
- Being active in the early ascent phase is important, so you don't miss any performance.

More on MegaTrends and How I Choose My Stocks and Options

Before you purchase the latest options package, perhaps you'd like to learn more about why I choose the stocks and options I do and what that means for you as an investor.

I have spent my financial career building portfolios of MegaTrend stocks. These are global market leaders that have the kind of disruptive mindset to keep them well ahead of the competition for decades to come. These stocks form the foundation of the options I use in my portfolios, as well as in my Options Packages.

For example, Microsoft (NASDAQ: MSFT) is one of my MegaTrend stock favorites. As you can see from the graph below, simply investing in the stock thirty-three years ago and just sitting on it would have made you a multi-millionaire.

Portrait of a MegaTrend Stock

This is the power of finding MegaTrend companies and sticking with them.

I have built an options service that is unlike any service you have ever used. Like my stock investing, my options investing – not trading – is complex in calculation, but incredibly simple in execution. It's so elegantly simple that I was initially stunned about how easy, yet wildly and consistently successful, it is! It continues to score double and triple digit gains every time market conditions flash a buy signal.

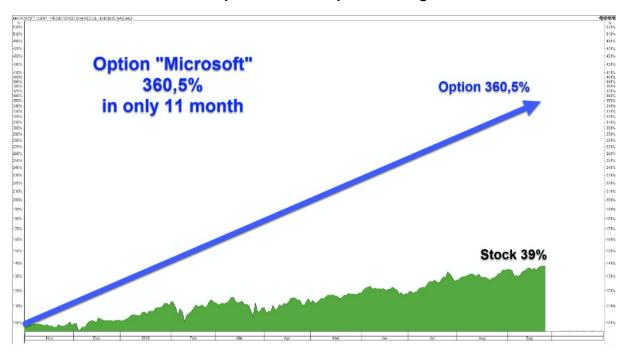

Building Significant Wealth Starts with Proffe's Options Packages

That buy signal is flashing wildly right now! That's why I have again distilled a short list of options. I have selected certain companies and use their long-term, in-the-money options to give me that accelerated growth. You buy the options, and in 24 months, you sell them. That's it!

Too good to be true? NOPE

Our returns year after year prove that. The secret is I use the stocks as my engines of growth, and I use options as my turbochargers. Each option has been chosen using my proprietary Trendsetter Strategy, which identifies the best stocks that build wealth through fundamental, technical, and behavioral analysis. Usually, the stocks are in one or more of our model portfolios, and these options leverage that growth at the right moment in time. Take a look at this option that was in our US Option Package Oct 2017.

Microsoft Option from US Option Package Oct 2017

Remember the graph I showed documenting MSFT stock's incredible climb? Well, look at the different options – my options – make over a much shorter time frame. MSFT stock gained an impressive 39% in these 11 months, but my Microsoft option rose nearly an order of magnitude more - 360.5% - in the same time! I accomplished this by buying a simple, long-term, in-the-money options contract. That's a perfect example of how my options strategy works.

Opportunity is Knocking. Don't Miss Out!

Not taking full advantage of my latest options package could be the biggest financial mistake of your life. Remember, these packages make money in good and bad markets. This isn't just a bull market strategy. These are options on the market's best stocks at this particular moment in time.
